FROM OUR RECTOR

Dear Parishioners,

On Monday morning, at around 6:00 am, I received a phone call from the Mother of Good Counsel Nursing Home that my brother had passed away. This was devastating news; while he was very sick and had a long road of recovery, it was very unexpected by all that he would die so suddenly. It has been tough for my mom, who, over the past several years and more intensely in the past few months, has been caring for him and at his side. Please pray for the repose of the soul of my brother and for my family that mourns his loss.

The Gospel of Mark tells us about the first day of Jesus' public life in Capernaum: it is a typical day in Jesus' life, and we could say that it enlightens all days of the disciples. The evangelist describes it with the succession of hours as he outlines the beginning of Jesus' mission with the disciples. It quickly became clear that Jesus had not come for himself but to save men and women. As soon as Jesus entered the house of Simon and Andrew, he was moved by Peter's elderly mother-in-law, took her by the hand and lifted her up. The strength of that hand restored that old woman. And she "began to serve them."

The Apostle Paul remembers this for himself and for us: "For though I am free with respect to all, I have made myself a slave to all, so that I might win more of them:... To the weak I became weak, so that I might win the weak. I have become all things to all people, so that I might by any means save some. I do it all for the sake of the gospel" (1 Cor 9-19-23). I love these words of Saint Paul.

Serving the Gospel and the poor is the disciple's reward. This was already the case on that first mission day in Capernaum. And when the sun had set on Capernaum and darkness surrounded the houses, Jesus remained the only light that did not set in that city. The sick and the poor understood this and flocked to the door of that house, the only one that remained open even in the evening. Nestled among the houses of Capernaum, that house had been transformed by the presence of Jesus and the disciples into a place of mercy and piety, a sanctuary of the Gospel.

Through the community, through you and me, Jesus continues to gather, heal, and liberate. And his light remains lit to give hope in a world struggling to see a future of peace.

And here is the invitation of Jesus: "Let us go on to the neighboring towns, so that I may proclaim the message there also; for that is what I came out to do."

ARCHBISHOP'S COLUMN

Take one step deeper in building a dwelling place for God

It's worth spending some time and energy this Lent to invite the Lord more deeply into our lives

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ,

Where does the Lord dwell?

This week's readings tell us about the dedication of the Temple by Solomon. It was a powerful moment in Israel's history! Solomon said: "I have truly built you a princely house, a dwelling where you may abide forever."

But, in God's plan, the "forever" part was not to be so. The Temple was a beautiful thing. But God's plan was deeper: to dwell in us. In the Incarnation, the Son of God came to dwell in human nature; at Pentecost, the Holy Spirit came to dwell in the disciples; when we receive the Eucharist, Jesus comes to dwell in each of us. In those, we see the fulfillment of where God intends to dwell.

This week's readings also show us a dispute between Jesus and the Pharisees about purification. The Pharisees were focused on external purification — the washing of hands. Jesus wanted something deeper — the purification of the heart.

In both cases, it's not that the starting point was bad. On the contrary: The Temple and the washing of hands were both good things! But in both cases, the external thing was meant to lead us to something deeper, an internal reality.

Against that background, let's talk about Ash Wednesday and Lent, which are now just a week away.

It might feel a bit early to be talking about Lent. But television is already advertising for the Olympics this summer. If we're preparing months in advance to watch the Olympic games, then I think we can prepare a week in advance for Lent!

Here, my question is: What's one step deeper in providing a dwelling place for the Lord in your life?

If we think we have to be the spiritual equivalent of an Olympic athlete, we can despair of even beginning. But what the Lord asks of each of us — from the simplest beginner to the most advanced disciple — is to take one step deeper in becoming a dwelling place for Him.

What if each of us conducted a "time audit" of our lives? Count up the amount of time you spend on the internet, television, radio and newspapers gathering the latest news. Then, for Lent, take a percentage of that time and reallocate it to reading Scripture, listening to a faith-based podcast or listening to Catholic radio.

There are other ways to do a faith audit of our lives. But it takes some time and thought, which is why I'm asking about it a week before Lent.

I've said it before and I'll say it again: The world these days is a tired and anxious place. The Lord intends to build in us a dwelling place of peace and refreshment. But if we're going to invite people into that dwelling — and we will! — we have to build it first.

Where do we long for God to dwell more deeply in our lives? Whatever that is, it's worth spending some time and energy making some Lenten building plans.

The Gospel of the Lord

On leaving the synagogue Jesus entered the house of Simon and Andrew with James and John. Simon's mother-in-law lay sick with fever. They immediately told him about her. He approached, grasped her hand, and helped her up. Then the fever left her and she waited on them. When it was evening, after sunset, they brought to him all who were ill or possessed by demons. The whole town was gathered at the door. He cured many who were sick with various diseases, and he drove out many demons, not permitting them to speak because they knew him. Rising very early before dawn, he left and went off to a deserted place, where he prayed. Simon and those who were with him pursued him and on finding him said, "Everyone is looking for you." He told them, "Let us go on to the nearby villages that I may preach there also. For this purpose have I come." so he went into their synagogues, preaching and driving out demons throughout the whole of Galilee.

Mark 1:29-39

Jesus' Ministry of Compassion

Today we continue to read the Gospel of Mark, learning more about Jesus' ministry. Immediately, we read that Jesus cures Simon's mother-in-law, and afterward she begins to serve Jesus and his disciples. Jesus also cured countless others who were brought to him for healing of illness and driving out demons. Interestingly, Mark tells the reader that Jesus did not allow the demons to speak because they knew his true identity and would reveal it to all those who were present.

Early in the morning after a particularly busy day, Jesus rises to go off and pray in silence. However, he is followed by Simon and the other disciples who tell him that many people are already looking for him. It is this moment of pursuit that Mark begins to reveal the distinct role of Jesus' disciples as they act as intermediaries between Jesus and the people. Jesus then informs his disciples that they are to leave Capernaum to preach in other places.

Today's Gospel reading paints the larger picture of Jesus' ministry: preaching with authority, healing the sick, driving out demons, and then moving to the next place to continue his work and ministry. Mark's Gospel account tells us that Jesus repeated this process throughout all of Galilee.

Jesus' compassion and healing ministry is a sign of the Kingdom of God. The church continues to extend Christ's healing presence to others in her ministry to the sick. Through the Sacrament of the Anointing of the Sick, the Church prays for both physical and spiritual healing, forgiveness of sins, and comfort for those who are ill.

We also, notice the importance of prayer in Jesus' daily life. Jesus rose early in the morning, removed himself from others, and went to a quiet place to pray. We believe that in his prayers Jesus found guidance from God as he told his disciples it was time to move on. We also must bring our prayers and decision-making to God for guidance and direction in our own lives.

Eucharistic Exposition

The Blessed Sacrament, the very presence of Christ's body and blood in the Eucharist, is reserved in the tabernacle of the Blessed Sacrament Chapel to the east of the main sanctuary. At all hours the Cathedral is open, people may be found praying there before the Lord "face to face." Each Saturday afternoon, beginning at 3:30 pm, the Eucharist is displayed for prayer and adoration in public exposition in the Blessed Sacrament Chapel for holy hour. Following this holy hour, the Evening Prayer of the Church with Benediction is celebrated.

Additionally, the Blessed Sacrament is displayed for public adoration and prayer on the First Friday of the month. First Friday Adoration begins at approximately 8:30 am, following the completion of the 8:00 am Mass, and concludes with Benediction at 11:45 am. Our next First Friday Adoration will be held Friday, February 2nd.

Weekly Thoughts on Giving

"Rising very early before dawn, he left and went off to a deserted place, where he prayed...He told them, 'Let us go on to the nearby villages that I may preach there also. For this purpose have I come.'"

- Mark 1:35, 38

In today's Gospel reading we see a perfect example of stewardship. Jesus gives His time to do all that God wishes - healing the sick and preaching. But before He begins, Jesus takes time to be alone with God in prayer. It is through prayer, spending time with God, that we are given the graces needed to do what He wishes us to do. Praying before acting is a great habit to develop.
