WELCOME TO OUR VISITORS

Archbishop Mitchell T. Rozanski and the people of the Archdiocese of St. Louis welcome you and hope that your time in our Mother Church may be an opportunity to share our faith and joy in Jesus Christ.

Please enjoy the beauty of this building dedicated to the glory of God and built for the inspiration of all who enter.

Small public tours of the Cathedral led by volunteer guides are available by appointment, as is access to the Cathedral Gift Shop. Large public tours are not currently available, due to the difficulty of being able to adequately social distance larger groups.

All visitors who are not of the Catholic faith are welcome to join us in prayer, but not to receive Holy Communion. Reception of Holy Communion is a sign of unity of faith and full membership in the Catholic community. Together let us pray for the eventual unity of all believers.

If you desire to become a member of the Catholic Church or to become a member of the Cathedral Basilica Parish, please complete a registration card, available at the entrances the church.

All contributions to the Cathedral Basilica parish, ministries, and maintenance are sincerely appreciated.

Dear Parishioners,

This past week I became aware of one of our long-time parishioners, who moved away several years ago to live with one of her daughters, had passed away. Mary Deppe is survived by her husband of 68 years Gerry, whom she would describe always as the love of her life, and 5 daughters. Gerry was a sergeant in the Korean War, stationed in Tokyo, Japan. Gerry proposed to Mary by phone and Mary bravely crossed the Pacific on a freighter during wartime to join him as his wife. Mary was a deeply spiritual woman. She was a member of the Rosary Makers of St. Williams, the Daughters of St. Francis de Sales and served with the Knights of the Holy Sepulcher and the Serra Club. In addition, she was involved with Morality in Media for over 20 years.

"The Passover of the Jews was near, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem." This is how the Gospel passage starts, as if reminding us not to get distracted. Rather it urges us to join the group of disciples accompanying Jesus and to ask ourselves about our Lenten path till today. It is easy also for us to slow down our pace and get far from the Lord's thoughts. Every time our ego prevails, we distance ourselves from the Lord and from his brothers and sisters. But the Gospel returns to speak to us, to shows us the path to follow and to keep us in listening to Jesus.

The evangelist John presents to us Jesus’ first trip to Jerusalem to celebrate Passover there. The scene of chasing out the sellers from the temple manifests Jesus' jealousy, as the prophet wrote: "Zeal for your house devours me." It is a Jesus particularly hard and resolute; he well knows that in a temple, these small transactions are accepted. But what is the market that scandalizes Jesus?

There is another market we need to focus on; it is that which happens in our hearts. It is a market that scandalizes the Lord Jesus even more because the heart is the true temple in which God wants to dwell. Such a market has to do with the way one conceives and conducts one's life. How often life is reduced to a long and mean buying and selling process, no longer with gratuitous love! The iron law of self-interest seems to inexorably preside over human life. What one seems to count and value is one's own personal gain, at any cost.

The message of today’s Gospel is that Jesus again enters into our life, as he entered the temple, and turns this primacy upside down; he throws up in the air the little benches of our petty interests and reaffirms God's absolute primacy. It is the zeal that Jesus has for each one of us, for our heart, for our life, that it might open to receive God.

Monsignor Henry Breier
Though present everywhere, God is found in special ways in certain places

Showing, instead of stating, that faith is important can help heal our culture, which appears to be complacent

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ,

Does place matter in our relationship with God?

In many ways it doesn’t, because God is everywhere. That’s why the first thing the Catechism of the Catholic Church says about the matter, quoting from John 4, is: “The worship ‘in Spirit and truth’ of the new covenant is not tied exclusively to any one place” (CCC 1179).

But let’s reflect together, for a few minutes, on the ways place does matter, and why that might be important for us.

In this week’s readings, we hear about the healing of Naaman, an army commander from Syria who was afflicted with leprosy. He came to Israel, to the prophet Elisha, to be healed. Elisha told him to wash seven times in the Jordan River.

At this point, Naaman objected. You could summarize his objection this way: “You have got to be kidding me! The rivers in Syria are every bit as good as this muddy Jordan. You can’t tell me there’s something special here that I couldn’t find there.”

The response to Naaman’s objection could be put this way: well, make an experiment for yourself and find out.

Naaman’s servants prevailed on him to try. And he did. And he came out of the water healed. He made an experiment, and the evidence was clear. There is something special about this place, something that can’t be found elsewhere.

Naaman learned for himself what Israel already knew: this is the Promised Land, and place makes a difference. At the end of the episode Naaman took home two mule loads of soil — a recognition that God is present here, in this land, in a way that He isn’t present anywhere else.

It’s not so foreign to our experience, actually. People visit the Holy Land or Assisi and say: “There’s something about this place.” People visit Auschwitz and say the same. Closer to home, we might visit Gettysburg, or the hotel in Memphis where Martin Luther King Jr. was shot, or the shrine of St. Rose Philippine Duchesne in St. Charles, or simply go back to the house where we grew up — and our own experience tells us that, in some ways, place matters.

Why might that be important to us?

For one thing, because our culture is engaged in a massive experiment. An increasing number of people claim no religious affiliation. The percentages are dramatic when it comes to young adults. What they’re saying is: faith doesn’t matter.

We know, from history, how this experiment turns out. Every time Israel becomes complacent in the Old Testament, it leads to collapse, and the collapse needs to be healed. The same is true in the history of individuals, marriages, parishes and nations. Complacency leads to collapse; collapse needs to be healed. Increasingly, that’s the path our culture is taking.

We can respond by insisting that faith is important. A better response is showing that faith is important. And part of showing that faith is important is giving witness to how place matters. It matters whether we go to confession. It makes a difference when we spend time in adoration. Sure, God is everywhere. But, like Naaman, we’ve made the experiment, and discovered that He’s present in the Mass, and in confession, and in the adoration chapel, in a way that He isn’t present elsewhere. We can bear witness to that and invite others to find out for themselves.

Does place matter? Yes and no. We can encounter God anytime, anywhere. But the Bible tells us that place matters. And our own experience tells us that place matters. Let’s not be too quick to say that place doesn’t matter when it comes to the life of faith.

A Lenten Retreat with Sacred Art

Week 4: The Most Sacred Heart of Jesus
(displayed in the All Saints chapel and the west transept)

We find ourselves now in the middle of the Lenten season and the middle of our time in the desert with Jesus. This can be a time in which we are tempted to give up on our Lenten resolutions or to begin treating this season as if it were just any other ordinary time of year. Perhaps some of us haven’t really even begun to be intentional about the season yet: maybe you’ve been putting it off day after day and are now shocked to find yourself halfway through the season. For others, perhaps you are having the most spiritually enriching Lent you’ve ever had.

How ever your Lent is going, today Jesus offers you His Heart. The unknown artist of this 19th century painting (which is also enshrined as a mosaic in the west transept of the Cathedral Basilica) depicts the Lord Jesus looking gently at the viewer. As you look upon this image, can you allow Jesus to look at you with this penetrating yet gentle and loving gaze? Notice the feelings that come up within you as you do so. We noted last week that there is no need for a shield or mask when we come before Jesus. He wants us to approach Him as we are: to not try to hide anything. For some, this kind of vulnerability – even before God – can be a bit difficult or unsettling, even frightening, at first. If it is for you, try talking to Jesus about that.

As Jesus looks upon you with all of your successes and failures, all of your gifts and what you conceive as faults, He offers you His Heart. No matter what He sees when He looks at you – in fact, because of what He sees – Jesus wants to share His divine Heart with you. Notice how gently He offers it. He doesn’t force His love upon us. Rather, He softly and quietly holds it out, indicating to it with His other hand as if to say, “This is for you, if you’ll only freely receive it.”

As with all of the paintings we’ve prayed with over the course of this “retreat,” we find here once again the instruments of our Lord’s Passion. They adorn the Sacred Heart. Indeed, the Heart of our Lord Jesus is a pierced Heart, crowned with thorns. The Passion permanently marks the Heart of Jesus as a testament to His eternal and unconditional love for us, and a as perpetual reminder of that act of suffering which is mysteriously placed at the center of His providential plan for our salvation.

Jesus’ right hand is turned palm-upward. While indicating to His Heart, He also seemingly invites us to place our own hearts there, so that they might be side-by-side with His. Can you give your heart to Jesus? To do so, we often will have to undergo our own passion and crucifixion: dying to those earthly things that we’ve given our hearts to in the past and that we’re tempted to give them to now. This should be our focus especially during this season of Lent: detaching our hearts from passing things so that we might give them more completely to the only One who is eternal. For indeed, as St. Augustine says, “Our hearts are restless until they rest in You!”

Jesus, meek and humble of heart,
Make our hearts like unto thine!
Archdiocesan Lenten Regulations

For God so loved the world that he gave his only Son, so that everyone who believes in him might not perish but might have eternal life. For God did not send his Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world might be saved through him." (Jn 3:16-17)

The Church has always helped us fulfill these words of Jesus by prescribing very definite penance for all Catholics. Universal Lenten directions are printed here in order that we may be reminded of what is expected of all Catholics for all the days of Lent.

1. Abstinence from meat (totally meatless days) is observed by all Catholics 14 years of age and older (no upper age limit) on Ash Wednesday and all Fridays of Lent.

2. Fasting is observed on Ash Wednesday and Good Friday by all Catholics between 18 and 59. Those who are bound by this eat only one full meal; two smaller meals are taken to maintain strength according to each one’s needs.

3. Fasting on other weekdays of Lent is not obligatory but recommended most strongly; if fasting is not observed, some other form of self-denial is obligatory, not from Church direction but from Christ’s command.

4. Prayer is especially necessary to maintain the perspective of penance and to keep the motivation spiritual. Some substantial time should be given to prayer each day.

5. Almsgiving or charity is necessary to maintain and intensify the movement of the soul away from self-centeredness. A substantial donation of monetary funds and/or time and/or personal effort should be given to those in need.

Stations of the Cross

A privileged devotion frequently prayed in a public service during Lent is the Stations of the Cross. For centuries, pilgrimage to the holy places in Jerusalem and a walking the path of Christ’s carrying the cross to Calvary has been an esteemed devotion and pientential practice. In similar fashion, the faithful have prayed at fourteen "stations of the Cross" erected on the walls of their parish churches. Join us for this powerful devotional prayer every Friday evening of Lent at 7:00 p.m., live or via livestream!

Lent and Confession

All Catholics associate Lent with the Sacrament of Reconciliation. Sometimes we put off going to Confession until the last minute depriving ourselves of a much richer Lent; indeed, a much richer life. Everyone is urged to make their Lenten confession early, allowing the richness of God's mercy to “take root” in Lent and then blossom into a hardy Easter joy.

Operation Rice Bowl

The effort known as Operation Rice Bowl is a regular feature of Lent in Catholic homes, whereby families reduce substantially one meal eaten together to a very simple fare like soup and bread, then donate the money saved to the "rice bowl". At the end of Lent, all the "rice bowl" funds are forwarded to the poor through Catholic Relief Services. “Rice bowls”, instructions, and a Lenten Calendar are available on the tables at each entrance. Please consider taking one and using it to fulfill the Universal Lenten Direction toward almsgiving or charity this Lenten season.

Weekly Thoughts on Giving

“You shall not carve idols for yourselves in the shape of anything…” - Ex 20:4

How many “gods” do you put before God? “Idols” do not always take the shape of physical things, things we can touch and feel. Those are easy to recognize. Many times they take the form of things we cannot touch and are much harder to spot like pride, power, ego, time, comfort or health. Pray for God’s help to prune our vices and to grow in virtue.

A Thought on The Sanctity Of Life

“The Gospel of Life is therefore meant to be a precise and vigorous reaffirmation of the value of human life and its inviolability, and at the same time a pressing appeal addressed to each and every person, in the name of God: respect, protect, love and serve life, every human life! Only in this direction will you find justice, development, true freedom, peace and happiness!”

Pro-Life Mass

Remember to join us at the Cathedral Basilica on the third Saturday of each month for a pro-life Mass at 8:00 a.m., followed with a rosary procession to Planned Parenthood at Boyle and Forest Park. The next Mass is scheduled for Saturday, March 20.

Light & Darkness

Every single day of our lives, we have a great number of choices to make. We can choose God in various situations, making the conscious decision to choose goodness and light. On the other hand, we can choose to reject God as the ancient Israelites did before going into exile. The lay faithful have the beautiful blessing of sanctifying the world. While priests and religious sanctify the Church, the lay faithful can sanctify the world in its increasing secularity. What does this mean for us? It means choosing prayer, silence, patience, compassion, and selfless love over unnecessary noise, anger, self-gratification, and individualism. Choose wisely in each situation and help lead people to encounter God through you.

Visit archstl.org/dynamic for more info.

40 Days For Life

The Cathedral Basilica Parish has adopted Sunday, March 21, as its day for the 40 Days for Life vigil of quiet prayer outside of Planned Parenthood.

To sign up for your preferred hour to stand vigil between the hours of 7:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. or for additional information, please contact Bryan with the Cathedral Pro-Life Ministry at bryankirchhoff@att.net.

Cathedral casserole organizers will host our next "touchless" drop-off in the parish parking lot on Thursday, March 11, from 1:00 – 2:00 p.m. Please contact Skip or Nicki Batchelor at 916-834-4843 for additional information.
Easter Memorial Flowers

The beautiful Easter lilies and spring flowers that adorn our church are a special part of the celebration of Easter at the Cathedral Basilica of St. Louis. We invite parishioners to share in the experience through a memorial or thanksgiving gift - to remember loved ones, honor friends, and offer thanksgiving to God for prayers answered and blessings received. The suggested donation is $10.00 per remembrance. The names of all those being remembered will be printed in the parish bulletin on Easter Sunday and the week following Easter.

Please indicate in whose memory, or in whose honor, you wish the flowers to be dedicated.
