FROM OUR RECTOR

Dear Parishioners,

This Sunday's Gospel during Lent takes us to Sychar, in Samaria, a land filled with memories of the ancient patriarchs. Jacob had purchased that land for his son Joseph. Jesus, tired from His journey, stops at the well still called "Jacob's well." It is about noon. The disciples have gone to buy food.

On the surface, Jesus appears hungry and thirsty like anyone else at that hour. In reality, He is not hungry for bread alone, nor thirsty for water alone. When the disciples return and say, "Rabbi, eat," Jesus answers, "I have food to eat of which you do not know... My food is to do the will of the one who sent me and to finish his work." As often happens to us, the disciples do not understand what He means.

That well becomes an image for us. It is the Sunday liturgy where the Lord offers Himself as food and drink of salvation. There, like the Samaritan woman, we begin to understand the truth and meaning of our lives. He meets us so that we too may receive His saving love.

When Jesus says to the woman, "Give me a drink," it is a request for love and friendship. He draws her into His mission as Savior of the world. That same request echoes today in the cries of the poor, the weak, those at war, migrants, the elderly, and the lonely. With them, Jesus says to us, "Give me a drink." It is a plea as vast as the countless who thirst and hunger for justice.

Jesus knows our resistance, our laziness, our resignation. As with the Samaritan woman, He presses gently upon our hearts: "If you knew the gift of God and who is saying to you, 'Give me a drink,' you would have asked him and he would have given you living water."

Jesus loved the Samaritan woman even while she was still far away; He was waiting for her. In their long conversation, the bitter knots of her life began to loosen. She had had five husbands and no longer believed there could be strong and faithful words for her. Jesus did not humiliate her—love never humiliates—but helped her recognize her need to be truly loved so that she might also love.

When she understood who stood before her, she left her water jar—some translate it as "let it fall," suggesting a break with her past—and hurried back to the village. She told everyone about the encounter that changed her heart and her life. The whole village came out to the well, and Jesus was there waiting.

ARCHBISHOP'S COLUMN

Lent is Great for Giving Our Witness

The ability to give our witness is a key skill in developing an evangelizing mindset

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ,

One key skill in developing an evangelizing mindset is the ability to give one's witness. Several readings this week invite us to develop that skill.

The healing of Naaman by Elisha (2 Kings 5) invites us to give witness to the importance of place. Naaman is afflicted by leprosy. Elisha tells him to wash in the Jordan River. Naaman says, in effect: "No way! The rivers of Aram are just as good — or even better! What's so special about this place?" It's a cry we hear today, too: "Can't I pray anywhere? Why do I need to be in church?"

In the end, Elisha's reply wasn't an argument but a witness: Come and see. Our witness can be along the same lines: "Sure, you can pray anywhere. I do! Still, there's something different about being before the Blessed Sacrament. I'm not trying to win an argument here, I'm just telling you what my experience is: there's something different about that place." And there it is: You've given witness! And that witness plants a seed.

Azariah's prayer (Daniel 3) is an invitation to give witness in many ways. But I want to focus on something he says in that prayer: "Deliver us by your wonders, and bring glory to your name, O Lord."

The Lord did wonders for ancient Israel. The Lord did wonders for Azariah. What wonders has the Lord done in your life? Do you have one of those "only God could have done this" moments in your life? If you can share one of those, that's giving witness. And that witness plants a seed.

Jesus asks us to give witness to the power of forgiveness. In response to Peter's question — "How often must I forgive my brother?" — Jesus gives the parable of the unforgiving servant (Matthew 18). He concludes with a warning, but the warning is also an invitation: If you open your heart to forgive others, you also unlock the power of God's forgiveness toward you.

Let's be honest: Forgiving is not easy! But there's a joy and a freedom that comes from it. When we do the hard work of forgiving and experience the joy and freedom that follow, then we can give witness to the world: Outrage and vengeance aren't the only possibilities. The world needs someone to plant that seed!

Moses invited ancient Israel — and through them he invites us — to give witness to the joy of following the statutes and decrees of God's law: "Observe them carefully, for thus will you give evidence ... to the nations, who will hear of all these statutes and say, 'This great nation is truly a wise and intelligent people'" (Deuteronomy 4).

If we follow the teachings of Christ and the Church with resentment, that gives witness: "This is a drag. See how sad it makes us?" If we follow the teachings of Christ and the Church with joy, that gives a different kind of witness: "No, it's not easy. But it's so worth it! Look at the joy that comes — because we're not just 'following rules,' we're being conformed to the life of Christ."

It's the heart of Lent, and early spring. How are you being invited to give a witness — and plant seeds — this week?

Sacrament of Marriage

Congratulations to Jacob & Maggie Enfrink (pictured below) who were united in the Sacrament of Marriage at the Cathedral Basilica on Saturday, February 14, 2026 at 11:00 in the morning.

Love is patient, love is kind; love does not envy or boast; it is not arrogant or rude. It does not insist on its own way; it is not irritable or resentful; it does not rejoice in wrongdoing, but rejoices with the truth.
