FROM OUR RECTOR

Dear parishioners,

A word of welcome on this Easter Sunday to all visitors to the Cathedral Basilica Parish. I hope you find this to be a welcoming community and feel at home. You are always welcome here.

From ancient times, the liturgy of Easter day has begun with the words: Resurrexi et adhuc tecum sum - I arose, and am still with you. The liturgy sees these as the first words spoken by the Son of the Father after His resurrection, after His return from the night of death into the world of the living.

These words are taken from Psalm 138, where originally they had a different meaning. Psalm 138 is a song of wonder at God's omnipotence and omnipresence, a hymn of trust in God who never allows us to fall from His hands. The Psalmist imagines himself journeying to the farthest reaches of the cosmos - and what happens to him? "If I ascend to heaven, You are there! If I make my bed in Sheol, You are there! If I take the wings of the morning and dwell in the outermost parts of the sea, even there Your hand shall lead me, and Your right hand shall hold me. If I say, 'Let only darkness cover me' ..., even the darkness is not dark to You...; for darkness is as light with You." (Ps 138:8-12)

On Easter day, the Church tells us that Jesus Christ made that journey to the ends of the universe for our sake. In the Letter to the Ephesians, we read that He descended to the depths of the earth, and that the One who descended is also the One who has risen far above the heavens, that He might fill all things (cf. 4:9ff.). The vision of the Psalm thus became reality.

But those words of the Risen Christ to the Father have also become words which the Lord speaks to us: "I arose and now I am still with you," He says to each of us. "My hand upholds you. Wherever you may fall, you will always fall into My hands. I am present even at the door of death. Where no one can accompany you further, and where you can bring nothing, even there I am waiting for you, and for you I will change darkness into light."

Many thanks to everyone who made our Easter celebrations here at the Cathedral so beautiful, from our choirs to those who decorated the church. I am so grateful to you for sharing your time and talents with our parish.

Jesus' resurrection is a medicine for the world's ills

We need to proclaim the power of the risen Jesus more boldly and clearly to the world

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ,

Christ is risen!

The Gospel readings this week are full of eyewitness reports of encounters with the risen Jesus. The reports come from people who had no expectation of His resurrection and who gained no earthly advantage by bearing witness to it. More could be said about that, but I'll save it for another time.

Each of us also, in some way, experiences the power of the risen Jesus. But here's an interesting fact about the resurrection accounts: Several of those who encountered the risen Jesus didn't, at first, know it was Him! Mary Magdalene "turned around and saw Jesus, but did not know it was Jesus" (John 20). With the disciples on the road to Emmaus, "Jesus Himself drew near and walked with them, but their eyes were prevented from recognizing Him" (Luke 24). When Peter and several disciples went fishing, "Jesus was standing on the shore; but the disciples did not realize that it was Jesus" (John 21).

This also happens to us. Sometimes, even when we have an experience of the risen Jesus, we need help understanding our experience; our eyes, too, need to be opened. There's much more to say about that, but I'll save that for another time, too.

What I want to focus on this week is healing, starting from the healing of the man crippled from birth in Acts 3. That episode is so important that we hear about it four times this week!

Illness comes in many varieties. There's the bodily illness of sickness — the obvious kind we see when Peter heals the crippled man. We also see Jesus and the apostles healing the intellectual illness of ignorance. We can readily come up with examples of emotional illnesses like anxiety and depression or illnesses of the soul like habitual sin.

ARCHBISHOP MITCHELL ROZANSKI

SERVE THE LORD
WITH GLADNESS

But, of the many kinds of illness we experience, can we also diagnose a kind of cultural anxiety that seems to be growing these days?

Those who know the resurrection of Jesus and cultivate the discipline of staying with that knowledge experience a kind of peace that's grounded in hope. We know that Jesus has conquered sin and death; and, in Him, we share that victory. But those who don't know the resurrection of Jesus, or who refuse to believe or who don't cultivate the discipline of staying with their knowledge of the resurrection are left to fight the powers of the world on their own. That leaves them anxious. And rightly so! Left to our own, we do not have the power to conquer the forces of sin and death.

Here's a theory: The further our culture gets from a deep confession of the resurrection of Jesus, the more people experience this cultural anxiety. Paradoxically, the more they try to fight it on their own, the deeper the problem gets.

Our response to the growth of that cultural anxiety needs to be twofold. First, we need to deepen our own belief in the resurrection of Jesus and develop our understanding of the ways the risen Jesus encounters us in our daily life. Second, we need to proclaim the power of the risen Jesus more boldly and clearly — not to force people to believe, because that would be contrary to the nature of faith, but to offer them the medicine for the world's ills.

Brothers and sisters: Christ is risen! And the resurrection of Jesus is a medicine for the world's ills. Let's share that good news and offer the world a peace that more and more eludes it.

A Thought on The Sanctity Of Life

“With great openness and courage, we need to question how widespread is the culture of life today among individual Christians, families, groups and communities in our Dioceses. With equal clarity and determination we must identify the steps we are called to take in order to serve life in all its truth” (The Gospel of Life 95).
