WELCOME TO OUR VISITORS

Archbishop Mitchell T. Rozanski and the people of the Archdiocese of St. Louis welcome you and hope that your time in our Mother Church may be an opportunity to share our faith and joy in Jesus Christ.

Please enjoy the beauty of this building dedicated to the glory of God and built for the inspiration of all who enter.

Small public tours of the Cathedral led by volunteer guides are available by appointment, as is access to the Cathedral Gift Shop. Large public tours are not currently available, due to the difficulty of being able to adequately social distance larger groups.

All visitors who are not of the Catholic faith are welcome to join us in prayer, but not to receive Holy Communion. Reception of Holy Communion is a sign of unity of faith and full membership in the Catholic community. Together let us pray for the eventual unity of all believers.

If you desire to become a member of the Catholic Church or to become a member of the Cathedral Basilica Parish, please complete a registration card, available at the entrances the church.

All contributions to the Cathedral Basilica parish, ministries, and maintenance are sincerely appreciated.

Dear Parishioners,

We are now within the Easter Season, and the Cathedral is a busy place, mainly on the weekends as we host the Sacrament of Confirmation for the parishes of the Archdiocese. This is quite an undertaking, and I am so grateful to the many volunteers from the Cathedral parish who assist as ushers. There is truly no way we could welcome so many without their help. If you are interested in being a part of this ministry, please call the rectory. Your help would be greatly appreciated.

The Annual Catholic Appeal has one primary goal – proclaim the Gospel. Often it is seen as a collection or fundraising appeal. The Appeal does raise money, but only so that the Catholic community has the resources to announce the Gospel. How? Principally by loving others, showing compassion and care for the hungry, the thirsty, the homeless, the imprisoned, the sick and dying, the naked. Thank you for your generosity to the Annual Catholic Appeal.

The 4th Sunday of Easter is affectionately called Good Shepherd Sunday. Our gospel this week reports the second part of the passionate speech with which Jesus presents himself as the "good shepherd." He also uses the image of the gate where the sheep he gathers, guides and defends even at the cost of his own life’ s cost enter. He clarifies: "The hired hand, who is not the shepherd and does not own the sheep, sees the wolf coming and leaves the sheep and runs away-and the wolf snatches them and scatters them. The hired hand runs away because a hired hand does not care for the sheep."

In a time full of wolves who kidnap and destroy and of hired hands - among them the false prophets who deceive so many people in the world - together with the great mass of indifferent people, the Lord asks of us a new passion: to be with him "shepherds" of the crowds of our time. We come up with excuses, perhaps saying that we are only "sheep" ourselves.

The Gospel tells us that the shepherd is a sheep who has learned how to love, who has begun to have Jesus’ same feelings. That is why Jesus says to the disciples: "I send you like lambs among wolves." And the lambs are softened sheep who have widened their hearts, who see beyond their own habits, their own closures and who, together with Jesus, also say: "I have other sheep that do not belong to this fold. I must bring them also, and they will listen to my voice. So there will be one flock, one shepherd."

Yes and No

Christian life requires us to be deliberate in accepting humanity, rejecting sin

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ,

We read about a shift this week — how the early Church started its mission to the Gentiles. Before, there had only been a “no” to the Gentiles, because they were outside God’s chosen people. Now, there began to be a “yes” to the Gentiles, even while there always remained a firm “no” to their idolatry and sins.

In some ways that shift is a simple point of history: it happened. In some ways, though, that shift also provides guidance for our mission to the world today.

The metaphysical truth of the Incarnation is that God came in the flesh to save sinful humanity. The Incarnation was a yes to humanity and a no to sin. That metaphysical truth was also expressed in the practical ministry of Jesus. When He reached out to tax collectors and sinners, His ministry was always a “yes” to the person, even while it was always a "no" to sin.

That “yes and no” is the key to understanding a lot of Church teaching and framing a Catholic approach to some important cultural questions.

For example, as we approach the feast of St. Joseph the Worker (May 1), it’s fitting to think about how this “yes and no” can frame our approach to the treatment of masculinity.

In our history, unfortunately, there have been too many examples of saying “yes” to the gift of masculinity that also included a “yes” to the distortions of that gift. The current culture is trying to reverse the script: to say “no” to the distortions of masculinity by saying “no” to the distinctions between masculine and feminine.

Trying to erase those distinctions will never work, of course, for simple reasons of human nature. But it’s also not the Catholic way. The Church’s teaching, following the pattern of Jesus, is to say a resounding “yes” to the distinct characteristics of both “the masculine genius” and “the feminine genius,” even while we say a resounding “no” to every distortion of both. (And we need look no further than the internet and the news to see examples.) We can’t let our "yes" to the distinction become a "yes" to the distortion; we can’t let our "no" to the distortion become a "no" to the distinction. If we hold to the "yes" and the "no," we can correct our history and show culture a better way.

The solution to toxic masculinity is to restore and cultivate the genius of what God intended, not to jettison masculinity. In that sense, the washing of the feet is an iconic moment for us: yes to the masculine genius (and yes to the feminine genius), and no to the dirt that clings to it in a fallen world.

“Yes and no” is one of the great themes of God’s approach to sinful humanity. It’s written all over the Old Testament: “yes” to God’s people, "no" to their sins. It’s written all over the ministry of Jesus: the cross is a great "yes" to us and a great "no" to our sins. Jesus’ whole life was a living into the "yes and the no." We need to live into them more deliberately and more skillfully with respect to the key questions of our time.

A Thought on The Sanctity Of Life

“Current laws in our country fail to protect the lives of unborn children. ... People of good will must boldly stand up against this intrinsic evil [of abortion], especially when it is occurring on a massive scale, implemented in law and funded, in some instances, by the government.”

Most Reverend Joseph F. Naumann, Chair
USCCB Committee on Pro-Life Activities, “Priorities at the Polls”

Weekly Thoughts on Giving
“I am the good shepherd...and I lay down my life for the sheep...and they will heed my voice.”
- Jn 10:14-16
When you pray, do you only ask Jesus for the things that you want? Do you ever ask Him what He wants from you? How do you listen for His response? Many times Jesus responds in “quiet whispers” that are not so obvious. So, take time every day, in silence, to actively listen for His voice.

Good Shepherd Sunday
This weekend marks the 58th anniversary of the World Day of Prayer for Vocations, also known as "Good Shepherd Sunday." The purpose of this day is to publicly fulfill the Lord's instruction to "Pray the Lord of the harvest to send laborers into his harvest" (Mt 9:38; Lk 10:2).
Please pray that young men and women hear and respond generously to the Lord's call to the priesthood, diaconate, religious life, societies of apostolic life or secular institutes.
"God our Father, we thank you for calling men and women to serve in your Son’s Kingdom as priests, deacons, religious, and consecrated persons. Send your Holy Spirit to help us respond generously and courageously to your call. May our community of faith support vocations of sacrificial love in our youth. We ask this through our Lord Jesus Christ, who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit, one God, for ever and ever. Amen.”

Abundance of Life
How comforting it is to know that Jesus came that we may have life more abundantly. The spring is a wonderful time to observe the beauty of life present in God’s creation. Plants are blooming, birds are singing, and people are more visible outdoors because of the warm weather. What does it mean to live more abundantly though? It means living as a person whom God has destined for greatness. It means that Jesus has justified us by His precious blood and called to be people of great sanctity to deposit the scent of holiness everywhere we go. The grace of justification transforms us to live more fully with hope, joy, and zealous charity for God and neighbor. Because of the life Christ gives us, we are a new creation destined for eternal glory in heaven with the Triune God.

CAN YOU TRUST GOD?
BY DR. TIM GRAY
To be a saint, we must trust God wholeheartedly. Since the fall of our first parents, however, humanity has been tempted to mistrust the Father’s love for us. Scripture scholar Dr. Tim Gray takes us on a journey that addresses the pervasive misconceptions about God, showing us that there is no reason not to follow him.

The Good Shepherd

In this week’s first reading from the Acts of the Apostles, Peter proclaims how Jesus has revealed his presence after his resurrection through giving of himself to heal a crippled man. At the same time, the Gospel reading sees Jesus identify himself as the Good Shepherd, evident through his self-sacrificing love for his flock: “I am the good shepherd, and I know mine and mine know me, just as the Father knows me and I know the Father; and I will lay down my life for the sheep. I have other sheep that do not belong to this fold. These also I must lead, and they will hear my voice, and there will be one flock, one shepherd.” (John 10:11-18)

Together, these readings express what we should strive most to do in our earthly lives. When Jesus announces to the world that He is risen, he does not do it through pomp, through seeking attention. No, he does it through an act of charity. Through the healing of someone in need, giving of Himself and His gifts so that those who need it most may receive God’s grace and mercy. And when we show God’s love to others, the joy is contagious. The Good Shepherd knows to lead His flock to where they will prosper, and all He asks is that we follow His holy will. We give of ourselves because He provided the ultimate sacrifice, we love others because His boundless love fills our cups until they are overflowing.

In our time on earth, we must seek eternal salvation by listening for His voice. The sheep know the Good Shepherd because they recognize His voice. He calls out to us now through the voices of the poor and others in need. If we seek His voice, He will lead us to serving others.

Through our collective support of the Annual Catholic Appeal, we can proclaim with one voice, Thy Will Be Done. The past year has brought considerable challenge and hardship to so many, but your generous support of the Appeal helped provide hope and support for our parishes and our entire community. Please, help our Church continue to make a positive impact in the lives of those who need it most.

Pledge information for this year’s appeal was recently mailed to parishioners. You are asked to prayerfully consider a pledge. If you did not receive a mailing, or if you have questions, you are encouraged to call the parish office at 314-373-8202. Or, if you prefer, take a few minutes and watch the ACA video at www.archstl.org/aca and make a pledge online.
