FROM OUR RECTOR

Dear Parishioners,

This weekend we welcome two seminarians that will be with us on weekends during the academic year. Deacon George Rhodes was ordained a deacon in May of 2023 for the Archdiocese of Kansas City in Kansas. He attended St. James Academy, and his home parish is St. John Paul II in Olathe, KS. When asked why he wanted to be ordained a priest, he said: "I want to be a priest primarily because I believe God is calling me to be one. I want to do whatever He wants from me, and I think He wants me to be a priest for Him. If this is His will, then the priesthood will be what makes me happiest in this life and is the most fruitful for myself and His plan."

Ben Wolf will also be joining us on weekends. Ben is entering his 1st year of Theology after completing two years in Pre-Theology. After completing a degree in accounting, Ben entered the seminary for the Archdiocese of St. Louis. Ben's home parish is Holy Infant in Ballwin. During his time at the Cathedral Parish, he will be assisting as the seminarian master of ceremonies for Archdiocesan Liturgies.

As our country calls to mind the 21st Anniversary of the 9/11 attack on our country, our parish church welcomes First Responders throughout the Archdiocese for the Annual Blue Mass this weekend. The first "Blue Mass" was celebrated in Washington, DC, a little over 83 years ago. It is a great opportunity to come together, share our faith in the Lord, and ask the Lord for guidance and strength as these men and women fulfill their daily duties, which are difficult.

PRAYER TO ST. MICHAEL THE ARCHANGEL FOR FIRST RESPONDERS:

Lord, I ask you through St. Michael the Archangel, to watch over all of the men and women who so generously devote themselves to helping others. Grant them courage when afraid, wisdom when they must make quick decisions, strength when weary, and compassion in all their work. When the alarm sounds and they are called to aid both friend and stranger, let them faithfully serve you in their neighbors. Amen.

ARCHBISHOP'S COLUMN

The Cross is glorious because it manifests God's goodness

ARCHBISHOP
ROZANSKI

SERVE THE LORD
WITH GLADNESS

Knowing God wins a mighty victory through the Cross can help us embrace our own crosses

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ,

We celebrate the feast of the Triumph (or Exaltation) of the Holy Cross on September 14, followed immediately by the feast of Our Lady of Sorrows on September 15. I'd like to ponder the Cross as a paradoxical revelation of power.

The Gospel of John is divided into two major sections: the Book of Signs (chapters 1-12) and the Book of Glory (chapters 13-20). At the heart of the Book of Glory is actually the Cross! That's why, as soon as Judas leaves to betray Jesus, Jesus says: "Now is the Son of Man glorified, and God is glorified in Him." (John 13:31) The whole movement of the Gospel is to the Cross, and through the Cross. How can that be glorious?

St. Thomas Aquinas provides some help when he defines glory as "the manifestation of God's goodness." His definition helps us resolve our conundrum: the Cross is glorious because it perfectly manifests God's goodness. That can help us understand why Christ still bears the wounds of the Cross in His glorified body: they continue to be a manifestation of God's goodness in Him.

But if this is what victory looks like, then we're badly in need of conversion. Sports and movies have filled our imaginations with a different sense of victory. Don't get me wrong — I would love to see the Cardinals win the World Series! But if we build our Christian imagination on a worldly notion of victory, we build our house on sand, because that's not how the spiritual world works. When we build our Christian imagination on the triumph of the Cross, we build our house on solid rock, because we build on Christ.

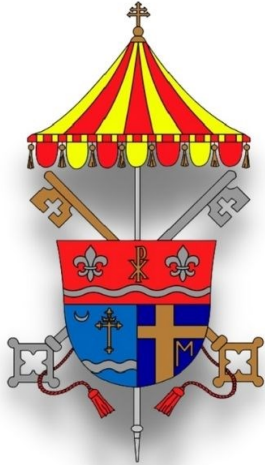

That doesn't make things easy! That's why it's important that the Triumph of the Cross is followed immediately by Our Lady of Sorrows. The Cross is truly a victory, but that doesn't erase any of the hurt — just as the resurrection doesn't erase the nail marks in Jesus' body.

Something important happens when, like Mary, we stand at the foot of the Cross and let all its pain into our hearts. Remember, when Mary stands at the foot of the Cross, Jesus calls her "Woman." Reading that superficially we might think: "How rude!" or at least "How distant!"

But we need to grasp this key: In John's Gospel, everyone called by a title rather than by their name is not only an individual but also a symbol. In this case, Jesus calls Mary by the same term as Eve in the book of Genesis. That means that Mary becomes the "mother of all the living from this place of sorrow." From here — from this place of hurt — she bears fruit as a spiritual mother. Standing at the foot of the Cross is, for her, a kind of triumph and victory as well.

The world today is filled with pain. And, so often, we turn away from the pain — because it looks like the opposite of victory, triumph and glory. What if we allowed these two feast days to reshape our imagination? We might learn to embrace our own crosses, knowing that God was winning a mighty victory through them. And we might learn to stand with others at the foot of their crosses, and bear fruit like Mary. We might show the world that there's another way to deal with pain.

RCIA

Have you ever thought about becoming a Catholic?
Do you know someone who might be interested in becoming Catholic?
Are you interested in finding out more about the Catholic Church?
Is your spouse, fiancé, neighbor, or friend interested?

The Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults (or RCIA) enables those who are interested in the Catholic faith to “find out what it is all about”.

Most often, people come because they are invited.

Be the voice of Christ and offer the first invitation to someone you know who might be interested in the Catholic faith!

RCIA is for persons who have never been baptized, were baptized in another Christian tradition, or were baptized Catholic but have never celebrated Confirmation or received First Communion.

Anyone who is interested in deepening their understanding of the Catholic faith is also invited to attend!

The 2022-23 RCIA session will begin on Sunday, September 11.

To register or for additional information, please contact
Fr. Zac Povis at 314-373-8204 or email zacharypovis@archstl.org

The Gift That Has No Season

Over the years, it has been gifts left to the Cathedral Basilica in wills, Bequests, and memorials that have largely enabled us to continue to operate as a place of worship. As we approach year end and consider the upcoming tax season, please remember the Cathedral Basilica Parish in your will or charitable giving plans.

Weekly Thoughts on Giving

"Everything I have is yours." Luke 15:31

Our Heavenly Father gives us everything, including the chance to share in His eternal kingdom. Yet, like the Prodigal Son, we are often lured away by the materialism of our society. Do you really want to turn your back on all that God offers in exchange for material wealth that has no lasting value? God wants us to be happy on earth as well. But, that requires us to freely accept His gift of faith; putting Him first in all things and detaching from our own self-sufficiency.
