FROM OUR RECTOR

Dear Parishioners,

“All flesh shall see the salvation of God.” This prophesy of Isaiah, the Advent prophet, is at the heart of the message of John the Baptist. The Precursor of Christ was the voice crying out in the Judean desert, “Prepare the way of the Lord, make straight his paths.”

Again today, the Third Sunday of Advent, John the Baptist occupies center stage in the gospel proclamation. This herald of the Messiah confirms the will of God: the gospel is directed to all classes of people in the crowd. The length and width of that invitation is implied in the invitation. Everyone, even tax collectors and soldiers, can attain salvation. Salvation does not depend on a person’s ancestry or that they are a descendent of Abraham. All people, Jew and Gentile alike, are called to repentance and baptism. Because the arrival of the Lord is imminent, each person should make ready for the Messiah’s arrival by doing penance for their sins and mending their ways.

A truly repentant heart must seek the Lord! We must heed the words of John the Baptist this Sunday who identifies the Lord as one possessing great power and judgement. “His winnowing fan is in his hand to clear his threshing floor and to gather the wheat into his barn, but he chaff he will burn with unquenchable fire.”

The image that the early days of Advent emphasize is the Second Coming of Christ, the End Time. It behooves all to prepare for Christ, “the judge of the living and the dead”. The focus of later-Advent which begins this Tuesday, December 17, is on the first-coming of Christ in the flesh, at Bethlehem. May we not become lost in the nostalgia of Christmas-past and lose sight of the urgency of virtuous living in the present.

“The Baptist requires of everyone—Pharisees, tax collectors, soldiers—a deep spiritual renewal in the very exercise of their job; they have to act justly and honourably. God asks all of us to sanctify ourselves in our work and in the circumstances in which we find ourselves: ‘Any honest and worthwhile work can be converted into a divine occupation. In God’s service there are no second-class jobs; all of them are important’ (St. Josemaria Escriva, Conversations, 55) .

ARCHBISHOP'S COLUMN

Jesus' Birth Fulfills the Prophets Who Heralded the Coming Messiah

As we prepare for His birth, we can make Jesus the unifying principle of our daily lives.

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ,

The readings this week are filled with prophecy and patterns, as though everything were straining toward the Messiah's birth in history. The Church's liturgies are meant to help us taste that straining and ask: How might we prepare for the coming of Christ in our lives? Let me say a few words about prophecy and patterns before turning to the question of preparation.

In terms of prophecy, we hear Balaam's prophecy from the Book of Numbers: "A star will advance from Judah, and a staff shall rise from Israel." We hear Jacob's prophetic blessing of Judah in the Book of Genesis: "The scepter shall never depart from Judah." We hear Psalm 72's prophetic description of the ideal king: "Justice shall flourish in his time, and fullness of peace forever." We hear Jeremiah's prophecy in the midst of crisis: "Behold, the days are coming, says the Lord, when I shall raise up a righteous shoot to David." It all culminates with the prophecy of Isaiah: "Behold, the virgin shall conceive and bear a son, and shall name him Emmanuel." The prophets pointed to the coming of a messiah-king.

In terms of patterns, first we hear the genealogy of Jesus from the Gospel of Matthew. It seems tedious to many but it's full of lessons, and Matthew tells us the main one: There are three sets of 14 generations from Abraham to Jesus. So what? Fourteen was the number corresponding to the name of King David in the Jewish alphanumeric code, where each letter of the alphabet corresponds to a number. Matthew is telling us that the time has come for the highest of high kings, the "most Davidic" of the heirs to the throne of David.

Next, we hear the pairing of the conception of Samson from the Book of Judges and the conception of John the Baptist from the Gospel of Luke. So what? In both cases, an angel appears to announce the birth to a barren couple. In both cases, the child is to be consecrated to God from the womb. In both cases, something will begin: Samson will begin the liberation of Israel from its enemies, while John will prepare a people for the Lord.

Finally, we hear the refrain of Psalm 24: "Let the Lord enter, He is the king of glory." So what? This was a cry to Israel to open their minds to the Lord, a cry to the temple to open its gates to the Lord, and a cry to Mary to open her womb to the Lord. In turn, it's a cry to each of us to open our hearts to the Lord!

There's a longing in the human heart for God to come and be with us. There were prophetic promises that God would do exactly that. And the very fabric of ancient Israel's history pointed toward it. How might we prepare to receive the fulfillment of all of that in our daily lives?

The words of St. Bernard, speaking of the Virgin Mary, can guide us well: "Arise, hasten, open. Arise in faith, hasten in devotion, open in praise and thanksgiving." That would make a good daily checklist for Advent. How might I take two minutes to grow in faith? How might I hasten to find five minutes to sit with the Lord? How might I pause in the midst of a busy day to open to the Lord's guidance?

In his encyclical on the Sacred Heart, Pope Francis says that Jesus Christ is the unifying principle of all reality. In these late days of Advent, Christmas is certainly the unifying principle of most people's schedules! May Jesus Christ become the unifying principle of our daily lives.

Men of the Cathedral

Greetings to all as we enter the season of Advent.

Due to the Christmas holidays, Men of the Cathedral will not meet in December for Adoration. We will resume on January 28, 2025. Same time, same location!

Since we will not be meeting, you are encouraged to attend Adoration on Saturday from 3:30 to 4:40 pm or simply spend some personal time in the Blessed Sacrament Chapel.

As we approach the new year, I would like to explore your interest in scheduling a quarterly visit to volunteer at the St. Pius V Parish Food Pantry. Several of the MOC volunteered there recently and expressed their desire to return. Others have subsequently asked to participate. If you are interested, please send an email to: Michael.Weisbrod@rcfstl.org and we can determine a convenient Saturday each quarter to volunteer.

Blessings to you and your family this Christmas season.

Weekly Thoughts on Giving

“Have no anxiety at all, but in everything, by prayer and petition, with thanksgiving, make your requests known to God.” (PHIL 4:6)

St. Paul reminds us that God is an abundant God – He is the ultimate giver of gifts. He promises to give us all that we need. Remember, that we are created in God’s image and likeness. We, too, are made to be generous with all of our gifts as well. Placing our trust in God frees us from being a slave to possessions. It allows us to gratefully and generously share ourselves and our goods with others.
