MASS INTENTIONS

Dear Parishioners,

The Solemnity of All Saints celebrates the countless men and women who now share in God's glory. Among them are the familiar saints whose names we know and whose intercession we seek. But we also celebrate those whose holiness was known to only a few: faithful parents, devoted spouses, generous neighbors, and ordinary people who loved God through the daily circumstances of life.

In the Book of Revelation, Saint John describes a great multitude from every nation, race, people, and tongue standing before the throne of God. This beautiful vision reminds us that holiness flourishes in every time and place. Each saint has a unique story, yet all have reached their heavenly home through Christ's saving love.

This feast reminds us that holiness is our calling, too. In the Beatitudes, Jesus shows us the path: dependence on God, gentleness, mercy, purity of heart, a hunger for righteousness, and a commitment to peace. These qualities take shape in ordinary choices—offering forgiveness, comforting someone who grieves, caring for a person in need, and remaining faithful when doing so is difficult.

The Beatitudes invite us to examine the attitudes that guide our lives. Do we approach others with patience and compassion? Do we seek reconciliation when relationships become strained? Are we willing to stand for what is right, even when it costs us something? Following Christ means allowing his love to shape both our actions and the intentions of our hearts.

The saints opened their hearts to God's grace and allowed his love to transform them. They experienced struggles, disappointments, and temptations, just as we do. When they stumbled, they sought God's mercy and began again. Their example encourages us to persevere, trusting that God can accomplish great things through our daily faithfulness.

As we celebrate All Saints and remember the faithful departed on All Souls' Day, we are reminded that our communion in Christ reaches beyond death. We ask the saints to pray for us, and we pray for those who have died, trusting in God's mercy. These days offer a special opportunity to remember our loved ones with gratitude, to offer Masses and prayers for them, and to renew our hope in the resurrection.

May this celebration renew our desire for heaven and our willingness to follow Christ each day. Here at the Cathedral Basilica, may we help one another grow in holiness through prayer, worship, and care for those around us. With God's help, we can walk the path of holiness together.

What If We Really Believed?

If we really believed in heaven, we might approach death as our final surrender into the hands of God

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ,

Church tradition sets November aside as the month when we especially remember the dead in our prayers. Inspired by the various readings the Church offers this week, the question I'd like to ask is: What if we really believed?

What if — in accordance with Wisdom 3 — we really believed that “the souls of the just are in the hand of God, and no torment shall touch them?” That might give us the courage and confidence to do the right thing, whether we win or lose in earthly terms.

What if — in accordance with 2 Maccabees 12 — we really believed that purification is possible and necessary even after death? That might encourage us to work harder at giving up worldly attachments, knowing that we have to give them up sooner or later in order to enter heaven.

What if — in accordance with the startling line of thought articulated by St. Ambrose — we really believed that “God did not decree death from the beginning; He prescribed it as a remedy?” Prescribed it — because He's always acting for our healing. Prescribed it as a remedy — because without it, we would be doomed to living forever within the moral and physical limits of a fallen world. In the deepest part of our soul, we don't want to live in this world forever, because we were made for eternity. Death is the only way that we pass from the limits of this world to the unlimited joys of heaven (though we have the choice to remain in our chosen sins for all eternity, too). If we really believed this, it might undermine the lure of transhumanism, which only promises a “this-worldly” salvation.

MITCHELL

SERVE THE LORD
WITH GLADNESS

What if — in accordance with St. Paul's exhortation to the Romans — we really believed that “the love of God has been poured into our hearts through the Holy Spirit who has been given to us”? We might be less anxious, because the seed of eternity has already been planted in our souls. We might, at the same time, work harder to cultivate the gifts of the Holy Spirit, so that we might experience God's love more deeply ourselves and share it more deeply with others. (What a world that would make!)

What if — in accordance with Jesus' own words — we really believed that “there will be more joy in heaven over one sinner who repents than over 99 righteous people who have no need of repentance”? That might change the accusatory tone we often take with ourselves — and with others — and replace it with the gentle skill of Jesus.

If we really believed in heaven, we might approach death differently. Rather than seeing it as the enemy to be warded off at all costs, we might see it as our final surrender into the hands of God — and we might practice that surrender in our daily lives.

So, this November, let's work on really believing!
